

BRETT BILLUPS

DALLAS, TX

BiblicalHR.com |

Brett's career in human resources has provided him with many opportunities to coach individuals at every level of an organization through difficult workplace and employee relations issues.

He's served in both the public and private sectors in various positions including leading the HR function for one of the nation's largest employee-owned organizations.

Brett's HR experience ranges from global Fortune 100 companies to start-up operations, from field operations to the boardroom.

His desire now is to share these experiences by teaching others to view specific workplace situations through the lens of Scripture and respond with a biblical attitude and a heart for the Gospel. His pursuit of Christian development in the workplace led him to found Biblical HR, LLC in 2021 based in the Dallas-Fort Worth metroplex. Brett and his wife Krissi have four grown children and a growing number of special grandchildren. They reside in Flower Mound, TX. ■

APPLYING ETERNAL TRUTHS TO EVERYDAY WORK

Designed to be a reference book for Christians in any workplace, Biblical HR provides guidance for those looking to navigate complex issues while maintaining a Christlike attitude. Passages from Scripture are a necessary resource when work relationships become tense or difficult to manage, such as communicating with a demanding boss, resolving interpersonal conflicts, or addressing unethical behavior in the workplace. Biblical HR bridges the gap between a Christian's time at work and their study of Scripture with solid, practical steps to take before, during, and after many common workplace concerns—steps that are informed and strengthened by biblical principles and examples.

RELEVANCE

- Millions of Christians in the workplace lean primarily on corporate policies and corporate-driven agendas to deal with day-to-day workplace issues. Biblical HR provides guidance on how to deal with these issues from a biblical, rather than a secular, perspective.
- There is no shortage of conceptual books on the “theology of work” or “Christian business strategies,” but none provide the guidance to deal with specific workplace issues from a biblical perspective. This book does that.
- The workplace is constantly being bombarded by secular agendas, movements, etc. Countless thousands have lost jobs or been forced to seek employment elsewhere due to workplace ideologies, mandates, environments, etc.
- Many believers want to act as such and share faith in their place of work, but fear for their jobs.

WHO IS IT FOR?

- Christians in the secular workplace, to employees, executives and business owners at every level.
- Owners of Christian-focused for-profit businesses
- Church leadership would also benefit from these principles, but the book would appeal primarily to the congregations (people in the pews).

CONVERSATIONS

- How to live faithfully as a believer in a hostile and/or secular workplace environment
- What prompted you to write this book?
- Who did you write it for?
- Tell us a little bit about you and your family's story
- When you felt like you had hit rock bottom, how did you start putting back the pieces of your faith and begin the healing process?
- What to do when you find yourself deconstructing and rebuilding your faith after trauma and loss
- Sharing your story with honesty and transparency
- How to examine whether or not your faith is shatterproof
